GIBBONS BLAMES LOOSE HOME TIES FOR PUBLIC EVILS

"Thaw, White and Those People in Pittsburg Were All Married. It Is Not Marriage, but Recognition of the Sanctity of Marriage, That Must Cure These Terrible Evils."

"The Great Crimes and Scandals Which Are Now Exciting So Much Comment Can Be Traced Directly to a Lack of Sanctity in the Family Relations."

"The Family, Which Is the Foundation of Society, Is the Source to Which We Must Look for Its Purification."

(Copyright, 1906, by the Press Publishing Company, New York World.) Cardinal Gibbons is taking a rest in the Shinnecock Hills. His retirement is so complete that the Policy-Holders' Committee he was invited to serve was not able to reach him. He spends his time, as far as it can be spared from religious duties, walking and driving with Bishop Foley, of Detroit, and Father Duffy, of Brooklyn.

The bracing air and rest are doing him worlds of good, and his step was quick and firm as he walked up the steps of St. Andrew's rectory, where he is the guest of Father O'Hara.

"Your Eminence!" Half way up the steps he turned, his face alight with the big soul behind those clear, gray eyes. Here was somebody who might need him and he was ready.

That is characteristic of the Cardinal. He responds to every call. He stood there in the last of the evening sunshine smiling patiently while The Evening World reporter explained his errand. His hat was off, his thin gray hair was half covered by the red silk cap. An old, rusty black serge sack coat, open at the breast, showed a red silk vest. Loose trousers of black serge barely reached to the tops of low-cut soft leather shoes with large silver buckles on the insteps. Bishop Foley stood uneasily at the Cardinal's side, almost urging him to escape the interviewer by flight, and Father Duffy was visibly disturbed, but His Eminence kindly consented to "just one question, no more."

WORK FOR MUCKRAKERS. Just one question. What could it be to cover all the field? "What is the remedy for the social and civic unhealthfulness that is giving occupation now to so many muckrakers?" was asked.

"That is comprehensive," said the Cardinal. "I would rather attempt to answer a dozen specific questions, but I think I may answer this by saying, when the sanctity of the marriage tie and the obligation of family relations are more fully realized, and religious training in the family becomes more general, we may look for better conditions."

"Dissect these questions as we may, we are forced back again and again to the same conclusion: Moral and religious training in the family is essential, and just as it is neglected do these evils increase."

"By civic evils we refer to corporate greed, financial immorality and official infidelity, as in the case of the insurance crimes and the group of crimes broadly classified as 'graft.' I do not know enough
